

CTP Lunch and Learn

Spring 2018

March 16 -- Friday
12:00 noon-1:00 p.m.
219 Peabody

Featured Scholar: Maria Wallace, Assistant Professor, Millsaps College

Navigating the Hidden Curriculum of an Academic Job Search

Akin to the K-12 curricular experience, acquiring an academic position (of all sorts) upon graduation is multifaceted. From keeping track of application materials to knowing your fit for a position, each journey is unique. Herein lies a hidden dimension of your academic job search. As such, this presentation will offer insights into practical strategies while also recognizing the visionary elements that contextualize each application.

LOVE PURPLE
LIVE GOLD

Sponsored by the Curriculum Theory Project School of Education, the Lunch and Learn Series is an effort to allow faculty and students to learn from fellow colleagues and to present works in progress to the scholastic community. All students and faculty are welcome. Free refreshments will be provided.

All faculty and students are welcome. Free refreshments will be provided.

LSU | College of
Human Sciences & Education
School of Education